Abercrombie & Kent Villas Adds 16 U.K. Properties

February 02, 2011 10:45 PM

Vacation rental specialist Abercrombie & Kent Villas is adding to its portfolio, with a new collection of 16 luxury homes in Great Britain. The properties are located in Cornwall, the Scottish Highlands, the Cotswolds and London. Properties include rural thatched cottages, elegant townhouses, grand apartments, barns, manor houses and a castle. Guests staying with A&K Villas receive support from a local team, including hosts to arrange local chefs, sightseeing guides, fishing or golf trips, whisky tasting and even private parties upon request.

Devon and Cornwall feature four villas with weekly rentals from $930 to $18,600. The Treverra Estate has five bedrooms in the Main House and four bedrooms in the Cottage. Set in landscaped gardens with a tennis court, heated outdoor infinity pool and Jacuzzi and views over the Camel Estuary, two properties on this 14-acre estate make up Treverra. The Cotswolds feature three villas with weekly rates ranging from $7,694 to $13,894. The five bedroom Temple Guiting Manor is a late Tudor country house set in the Cotswolds in Temple Guiting, a village that takes its name from the Knights Templar.

Scotland features six villas with weekly rentals from $744 to $40,997. The 15-bedroom Aldourie Castle sits on the shores of Loch Ness close to attractions like the Urquhart Castle and Scotland's world-famous whisky distilleries. Three townhouse apartments in London have weekly rentals from $6,358 to $23,327 (nightly rates are available for shorter stays). Chester Place is a five-story, three- to four-bedroom London townhouse on Regent's Park. Charles Darwin was a previous guest. For more information, visit www.akvillas.com/britain.
